

International Program

كلية طب الأسنان

The Faculty of Dentistry at Alexandria University boasts a world-class reputation for offering outstanding educational programs .

With a quality patient-centered curriculum , our graduates are recognized both nationally and internationally for their superior clinical skills , exceptional communication proficiency strong ethical standards , compassion , and humanity .

Seventy – five years ago , the Faculty of Dentistry at Alexandria University began its journey . Since then , it has been dedicated to providing top-tier educational and therapeutic services ,consistently ranking as a national leader in dental education , research , and community service .

In 2011 , the Faculty of Dentistry at Alexandria University launched the bachelor of dental surgery / international program - Credit Hours System , designed for both foreign and Egyptian students . This program features a dynamic ,integrated curriculum covering all dental specialties , ensuring comprehensive education and training from the out set , Students receive guidance and mentorship from leading professors , helping them develop superior clinical skills early in their academic journey . The curriculum combines hands - on practice with advanced educational resources providing a solid foundation in dental care .

The program admits about 100 students per year, significantly fewer than other private dental schools in the region . This selective admission process ensures personalized attention and high – quality education , fostering a thriving learning environment. By focusing on quality over quantity , the program guarantees tailored support for each student .

The program has earned high praise from both international and national students for producing competent and confident dental professionals . Regular updates to the curriculum incorporate the latest advancement in dental science and technology , maintaining the program ‘s reputation as a leader in dental education . This commitment to excellence ensures that graduates are well-prepared to meet the demands of the dental profession .